

Johansen Family Grave

Late 1800's

It is believed that three children of the Johansen family, who succumbed to diphtheria, are buried here between the townships of Red Jacket and Jericho.

Two of the graves are close together.
It looks like one grave had stones placed across it in the shape of a cross.